

Gain Control of E-Discovery Projects with ESI Spy

SuperiorGlacier clients now have a new tool to control costs and better manage their e-discovery projects. ESI Spy is an easy to use web portal that provides insight into project data. ESI Spy allows clients to assess their data early on in a case, giving them the opportunity to make adjustments to project scope to get only the data they need. By giving clients the ability to preview their data SuperiorGlacier will help save money and better manage projects from start to finish.

With ESI Spy, clients will be able to log in to a secure Web-based portal, where they can enter project information and provide processing instructions. From there, they can browse a directory of the data – either on a hard drive, CD/DVD or other media. ESI Spy rapidly provides the client with the types and sizes of files of the data set. Once processed additional reports about the data are available, including:

- Create dates
- File count
- Document extensions
- File size
- Password protection
- Errors
- Duplicate listing
- De-nesting

Customers can create custom reports depending on their specific project needs. With this information about their data, clients can make important decisions about moving their project forward in the most efficient manner possible.

Once a project is underway ESI Spy will allow clients to see where their data is in the process and when the project will be completed, allowing clients to better plan their review strategy. It will also store information about past projects for future reference.

SuperiorGlacier clients can easily access ESI Spy from the SuperiorGlacier Web site and from www.esispy.com. ESI Spy is accessible from any computer with an internet connection. Once a client is set up in the portal, a client representative will be granted administrative rights to manage their company's access to the portal. That administrator can add as many users to the account as they need and assign various access levels to those users, depending on their involvement with the project. Using and administrating the system is simple, little to no training is needed to quickly get up and running.

About SuperiorGlacier

SuperiorGlacier is a trusted and relied upon expert for end-to-end litigation support. In 1975, we opened our doors to help litigators prepare documentation for trials and regulatory matters.
